with materials that will help us to best realize our ideals and objectives. Here we prepare the foundations which are to determine our continued growth beyond college. We have a plan to guide us toward these goals which we seek. According to this plan we select raw materials and proper instruments with which to mold the future.

"According to the commission of God given to me, like a skilled master builder I laid a foundation, and another man is building upon it. Let each man take care how he builds upon it."

The main purpose for which we have come to Union is to learn how to think. We learn techniques and skills, and develop our ideals and aspirations. What we learn takes on new meaning as we utilize the facts in our every-day experiences.

Many have sought truth in the old ivy-covered Clossroom Building.

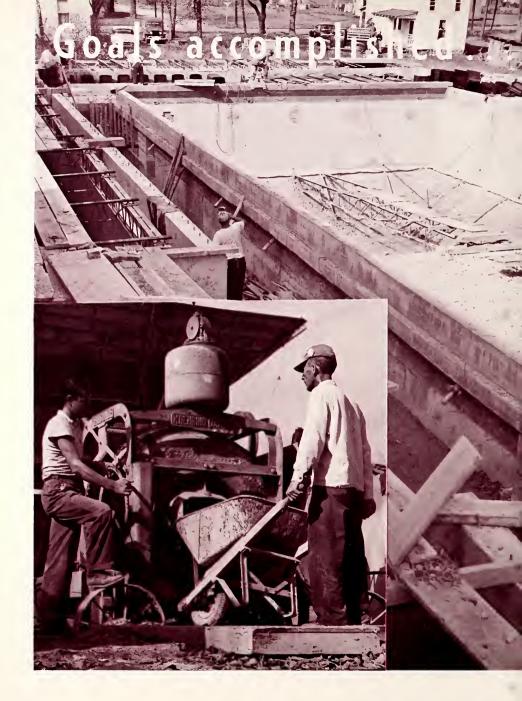

Our quest for truth leads us to the writings of scholars both ancient and modern.

ADMINISTRATION

Dr. Boatman points out the latest developments in building construction.

Under the capable leadership of Dr. Conway Bootman, Union's president for the post nineteen years, the greatest building program ever undertaken is now in progress on our campus. Two new wings to Stevenson Hall have been constructed and the original wing has been completely modernized at a cost of approximately half a million dollars, providing dormitory space for over two hundred men.

Nearing completion is a new indoor-out-door swimming pool of unique design that will later be incorporated with the proposed field house. Construction costs of $275,000 swell the total building development program to an all-time high of $800,000.

Dr. Bootman has worked steadily to improve the academic standing of Union through increased faculty salaries and a better balanced curriculum.

Dr. and Mrs. Boatman enjoy the Student Art Exhibit in the new launge of Stevenson Hall.

ASSISTANT TO THE PRESIDENT

In performing the varied duties of his position, Mahlon A. Miller has proven himself to be a versatile and efficient administrator. As Director of Religious Life on campus, he sponsors the Union College Christian Association, and has been responsible for improving the quality of Union's Religious Week programs. Much credit is due Mr. Miller, who also directs the student workship program, for his establishment of six Senior Assistantships, which give students part-time teaching responsibilities. In addition to his administrative duties, Mr. Miller also teaches some courses in the Division of Religion and Philosophy.

DEAN OF THE FACULTY

While serving in this capacity at Union, Dr. John H. Boyd (A.B., M.A., Ed.D.) has won the friendship and respect of the students and faculty. With an outstanding record of service for the cause of education in Kentucky, Dr. Boyd was instrumental in initiating the Minimum Foundation Program for the State of Kentucky during his term as President of the Kentucky Education Association. Dr. Boyd has played a major role in the steady improvement of the quality of Union's curriculum, and was responsible for guiding the faculty in a self-study program this past year that made possible the renewal of our teacher training accreditation.

EDUCATION

The Division of Education, which also includes physical education, psychology and guidance, has added a very important feature to its curriculum this year. Under the direction of an additional full-time faculty member, a new supervised teaching program has been established. Under this arrangement, a student spends ten weeks in full-day classroom instruction away from the compus, a real apprenticeship in teaching, with opportunity for group evaluation on his return.

Charles W. Simms, B.S., M.A., Ph.D. Choirman of the Division of Education, Director of Extension, Head of the Department of Education, and Professor of Education.

Herman Bush, A.B., M.A. Head of the Department of Physical Education and Athletic Coach.

Donald Shaw, B.S. in Ed. Instructor in Physical Education.

FINE ARTS

One of the fastest growing divisions of the college, the Fine Arts Division includes art, dramotics, music, and speech. This year each of the faculty has presented a public performance, either in concert, public reading, or art exhibit. Opera made its debut at Union this year in the presentation of two short operas by Menatti, "The Telephane" and "The Medium," which were produced by the Music and Droma Departments in March.

Danald W. Maxwell, B.A., M.A. Choirman of the Divisian of Fine Arts, Head of the Department of Music and Associate Professor of Music.

W. David Ashburn, A.B., M.A. Instructar in English and Dromatics.

Mary Pettus, A.B., M.A. Assistant Professor of Mathematics and Physics.

SCIENCES

The Science Division at Union College includes the fields of biology, chemistry, home economics, mathematics, physics, and this year for the first time, a pre-nursing program. The course offerings of the Science Division are planned to prepare students in the Division either for a wide variety of positions upon gradation or for further professional training in their chosen fields.

SOCIAL SCIENCE

One of Union's most diversified divisions of instruction, the Division of Social Science includes the fields of business, economics, history, sociology, political science and geography. A student may earn an orea in Social Studies in preparation for teaching, or he may qualify for a diploma in business through two years of specialization in that field.

Hay Taylor, A.B., M.A., Ph.D. Associate Professor of Sociology.

RELIGION AND PHILOSOPHY

The Division of Religion and Philosophy carries out perhaps the most active and continuous pragram on campus. To students studying in these fields, three awards are given at the end of the year for outstanding accomplishment. The Division personnel are responsible for securing the many guest speakers who came to speak at chapel services, and for making arrangements for the Religious Emphasis Week held each fall and spring. The Oxford Club and the Union College Christian Association are also the specific responsibility of members of this division.

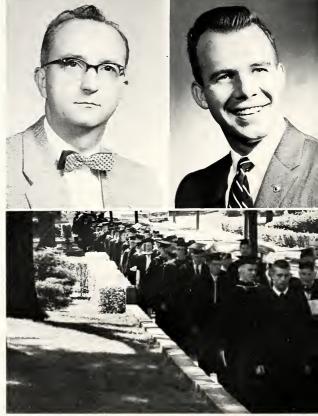

Harace R. Weaver, B.S. in Ed., A.B., S.T.B., Ph.D. Chairman of the Division of Religion and Philosophy, Head of the Department of Religion and Philosophy, and Francis Landrum Memorial Prafessor of Religion and Philosophy.

LANGUAGES

Blessed with a depth of talent seldom found in similar departments, the Division of Languages not only has one of the state's foremost collectors of folklare but also four occomplished musicions. Union College is fortunate to have foculty such as these who are willing to share their abilities with other compus groups. A new program designed to oid freshmen in mostering the basic language skills of reading and writing on the college level was initiated this year.

ACTIVITIES

Removing moke-up gets to be a tender job.

The work of Sophocles recreated.

DRAMATICS AT UNION

Short resumes can hardly do justice to the performances seen at Union on play nights. One is surprised to see how classmates con give seemingly professional performances. But it does not come easy, for the Dramatics Department works long and hard to achieve the degree of excellence seen in the plays.

The unsung heroes.

Warren Jahnsan is haunted by his two late wives.

Madam Arcati cantacting the spirit world.

"Yau mean she can see them?"

Lollypops and girls too!

"What's my line?"

Styles for fall.

HALLOWEEN PARTY

Low bridge!

The annual Halloween Party, sponsored by the Student Social Life Committee, offers a chance for the old and the new students to become better acquainted and have some fun and relaxation. Dancing and several different Halloween and party games along with a short floor show provided an enjoyable evening for all who attended.

A couple of squares.

Look who's here!

B. X. A. WINTER FANTASY

Winter Fantasy, sponsored by the Beta Chi Alpha Sorority, was an elaborately decorated dance. In order to pass to the dance floor, one had to enter an archway covered with snow-flakes. Once on the dance floor, all marveled about the hundreds of glistening snowflakes which the girls had used to create their theme. Intermission was highlighted by the splendid performance of Mr. Melvin Peacock at the piano.

A big dance with all the trimmings.

What atmosphere!

SPRING FESTIVAL 1956

The Spring Festival is Union's yearly attempt at imitating Broodway. Plans are laid, the cast is selected, and work is begun. Each student begins to learn his particular job, with Miss Patridge acting as producer, director, chareographer and business manager. Mr. Blackburn also lends a hand by building sets. The whole campus looks forward to the coming of this event. With the combined efforts of those participating and those attending, the Spring Festival turns out to be one of the major social functions of the year.

Cinderella was there . . .

THE STESPEAN

The Ingredients of College Life: Take one small college of enthusiastic students. Gently fold in two semesters of busy activities. Sift in generous portions of history, philosophy, biology, and German. (Other substitutions may be made for variety.) Blend well an assortment of registration lines, chow lines, wash lines, typhoid and Salk lines, and graduation line. Flavor with a dash of: Who's Who, Mr. and Miss Union, and Queen of Hearts. Simmer with the heat of a close ball game. Pour into an administrative mold. Allow to cool during printing.

This recipe has been tried and tested by capable students chosen to compile these ingredients into a worthwhile product of lasting durability. It is the trust of the Stespean Staff that we have succeeded in bringing together the happy memories of another year at Union College.

BASKETBALL

The 1956-57 edition of Union College featured another young club with strong potential and possibilities for the future. The Bulldogs managed to win seven against fourteen losses. Union's nucleus was built around five freshmen, five sophomores, one junior and one senior. Standouts for the young team included, Art Lanham, a sophomore who returned from military service, and Pete Moore, another sophomore from last year's team. They received plenty of help from Clyde Evans, a 6' 4" freshman from Rio Grande, Ohio, and Glenn Clarkston, a junior who comes from Cumberland College. With such a young ball club, the Bulldogs' future looks brighter.

TENNIS TEAM

Another spring sport, which is comparatively young, is the tennis team. Tennis was dropped in the years following the war and was not revived until two years ago. Although winless, the Bulldog netters played some outstanding matches against stiff competition. Not weakened by graduation to any great extent, Union promises to have a strong tennis team next year.

Mike serves a fast one.

GOLF TEAM

Union's golf team, still in the building process, produced a winless season. The team was blessed with two fine golfers, Linville Cain and Andy Dudley. Other members of the squad included: R. G. Williams, Bill Dew, Pete Moore, and Bill Brummett, none of whom were previously experienced golfers. Prospects for the next season are brighter as nearly all the men are returning. Experience plus a bigger schedule promise to show an improved team.

BASEBALL TEAM

Union's baseball team, weakened by graduation, managed a 4 win 13 loss campaign. Although it was a dismal season, there were a few bright spots for the Bulldogs: Gillis Adams' no-hit game against Pikeville, Fred Parson's selection on the All S.M.A.C. team, and Dan Sullivan's fine all-around performance. Union's victories included wins over Pikeville twice, Transylvania, and Cumberland Junior College.

TRACK TEAM

After winning the Kentucky Intercollegiate Athletic Conference title in 1955, the Union Track team could win only one meet against Centre. Graduation was the main cause of the Bulldogs' downfall. Gerald Swim, Jim Burkhart and newcomer Pete Moore were the chief point-winners. Swim closed out a colorful career as perhaps the greatest trackman in the Kentucky Intercollegiate Athletic Conference. Holder of various records, Swim was noted for his feats in the high jump, broad jump, pole vault, high and low hurdles. His loss will be keenly felt by the track men in the coming seasons.

to think...to accept

Above: Studies help to produce disciplined thinking.

These are the goals that every college student should seek in preparing himself to be an effective citizen. To attain these objectives, he must consider carefully his choice of activities, friends, habits, and attitudes that will produce these end results upon completion of his college career. Let your blue-print for the future be based upon the Christian ideals and the strong spirit of community that are characteristic of Union.

Below: Sharing responsibility in social functions and team efforts strengthens the group spirit.
